Walt Mueller, Jr., aka ‘The Otter,’ resides in the foothills of the Rockies, close to all the great Rocky Mountain fisheries. When not creating new products, ‘The Otter’ is in the water testing their effectiveness. But don’t just take our word, here’s what others are saying:

“Aim an avid user of your eggs… They are unbelievable. I use "peg" hard beads and have fished Alaska as well. We just got back from the Clearwater River, ID, my bodies couldn’t touch a fish on "pegged" hard beads, and I was crushing them on your Otter’s Soft Milking Egg. I love them!” - R. Zignego, Bozeman, MT

"Your eggs have fit the bill with phenomenal days of up to 96 steelhead hookups. My son had the only "best rod" of all the folks fishing the lower river today, all on the "Michigan Gold" Otter eggs. Another winning color!” - J. Kovacik, N.Y.

"I’ve been fishing steelhead in the Salmon River, N.Y. since 2015. Have looked more fish on Otter Eggs than any other pattern. L. Husha, MA.

"Your egg is the best trout/salmon/steelhead egg I’ve ever used, bar none! Gold have made a bunch of us selling them on the river, after fishermen were offering up to $5.00 per egg!" - L. Johnson, NJ.

"It was New Year’s Day on the Righorn River, MT with 4 accomplished anglers, we hooked in the neighborhood of 200 brown trout —it was unlike anything I’ve seen and our success was your Otter’s Soft Milking Egg. – J. Nealon, MA.

"I can’t tell the difference. Can you?"

In 2002, Walt Mueller, Jr., avid fly tier and fisherman of over 65 years, set out to create the most realistic imitation eggs possible. Otter’s Soft Milking Egg® materials and tied flies are the culmination of his original passion for creating lifelike appearance with big rewards on the water.

Otter’s ‘Soft Drift’ material produces a realistic drift of a real egg, and in 7 mm, it realistically imitates real sucker eggs abundant from the winter months well into June, excellent for trout and especially Great Lakes steelhead. The 2 mm eggs in double rows can be cut to any length for various hook sizes. No other product on the market can do this!

We also offer ‘VHS (Viral Hemorrhagic Septicemia)’ proof eggs! Using Otter Eggs will help prevent the spread of VHS (Viral Hemorrhagic Septicemia) found in the Great Lakes, Pacific, North Atlantic, and North Sea, which affects over 25 species of fish including all trout and salmonoid species. VHS can also be spread by fisherman using infected fish parts such as eggs, skins, natural roe, egg sacks, bait fish, etc.
